
Form 6 of 8: Sales and Customer Requirements

Who fills this in: sales lead or account management. Time: about 10 minutes. "I do not know" is a real answer.

Company: _____ Your name: _____ Date: _____

Why sales is in a security review: sales knows what buyers are asking for months before anyone else does. A stalled deal is usually the real reason a security program gets funded.

1. Has a prospect or customer sent you a security questionnaire in the last year?

☐ Yes, several ☐ Once or twice ☐ No How many roughly: _____

2. Can we see the last one you received?

☐ Yes ☐ Need approval ☐ Cannot find it

3. Who fills those in today? How long does it take?

Person: _____ Time: _____

4. Has a deal ever been delayed or lost over security?

5. Are buyers asking for a specific certification? Which one?

☐ SOC 2 ☐ ISO 27001 ☐ Their own questionnaire ☐ Nothing specific ☐ Other: _____

6. Is a deal currently stuck waiting on a security answer? Which, and how big?

7. Do you have a standard security answer pack, one pager, or trust page today?

☐ Yes ☐ Being written ☐ No

8. Do you ever answer a questionnaire in a way that is optimistic rather than accurate?

☐ Never ☐ Sometimes ☐ Not sure who checks

No judgement. Knowing this early is far cheaper than a customer finding out later.

9. What types of customers do you sell to?

☐ Small business ☐ Enterprise ☐ Government ☐ Healthcare ☐ Financial ☐ Education ☐ Consumers

10. Which customer would hurt most to lose?

11. What customer data does sales hold, and where? (CRM, spreadsheets, personal drives)

12. Do sales people use tools they bought themselves? Which ones?

What would make selling easier if we fixed it in the next six months?
